

PennState
Behrend

Yahn Planetarium

School of Science-49 Zurn, 4205 College Dr. Erie, PA 16563

behrend.psu.edu/yahnplanetarium

Planetarium Director Jim Gavio | 814-898-7268; jvg10@psu.edu

For years, it's been the place where thousands of young people and adults come to learn about the universe and worlds beyond our reach. The Erie Planetarium served as a resource for the Erie community for more than fifty years, and it continues today as the Yahn Planetarium, now a part of Penn State Behrend. The planetarium is located in the School of Science complex on the Behrend campus.

Saturdays | 10am & 11:30am

$5 Adults; $3 Kids 12 & Under; Free PSU Employees & Students, Children Under 2

•10am “Larry Cat in Space” (recommended for ages 5 & Older) Follow Larry Cat as he somehow ends up on the Moon. We'll learn about gravity and what it would be like to live on the Moon. We could even see a Solar Eclipse from the Moon someday.

•11:30am “TOTALITY” (recommended for ages 9 to adult) Learn why eclipses happen, how to safely view them, and where you need to be to capture this beautiful event.

Yahn Planetarium will be giving away free eclipse glasses to anyone purchasing a planetarium public show admission on Saturdays while supplies last.*

Astronomy at Home

Looking for space-related activities to do at home when the Yahn Planetarium is closed? We have you covered.

•Find the International Space Station | Find out when you can spot the International Space Station from your own backyard right here in the local Erie area.

•NASA at Home | Check out this great NASA website for some hands-on activities for families and up-to-date information about NASA's bold new plans.